

A unique aluminium alternative to timber for your privacy fencing needs.

Snaptech's revolutionary aluminium privacy fencing looks like timber but totally outperforms timber in every way. It's seamless design has been engineered to complement and enhance any environment and has no visible fixings, unsightly welding joints or open channels which can collect dirt or debris.

Snaptech's powder coated aluminium construction will not corrode, is stronger than timber and will not splinter, flake, peel, discolour or warp. It has no ongoing maintenance as it does not need to be oiled, stained or painted like timber and therefore it will save you time and money.
